

Consider practicing developing a character using the mind map shared during our last meeting.

Analyze Writing - Yours and Others'

Make conscious decisions about showing and telling.
Observe how other writers use showing and telling.

Identify what you like in your own writing.
Notice specific sentences or passage you like in the writing of others. Try to determine why you like them.

Look for ways you can clarify your writing.
Try to figure out the cause of anything you find confusing or unclear in the writing of others.
